Arthur H. Andrews of Charleston, W. Va., associated until only recently with the West Virginia State Chamber of Commerce and recognized as one of the most able chamber of commerce men in the east, today had been offered the post of executive vice president of the Greater New Castle Association.

President Norman E. Clark, who announced that Andrews was named by the association's board of directors on Monday night, said the acceptance of the West Virginian is being awaited.

May Start June 15

If Andrews accepts the invitation, he will probably assume his new duties in the GNCA office in The Castleton "around June 15."

The executive vice president's post is the sole salaried office of the new community organization. A sub-committee of the board has been considering candidates for the position for many weeks.

The newly chosen executive is a noted industrial and commercial consultant and has served many chambers of commerce and other

Legislature Adjourns But Special Session Call Looms In Year

By RAYMOND WILCOVE

HARRISBURG, May 31.—A special session of the legislature either this winter or next spring appeared in the offing today following adjournment sine die of the 133rd legislature following a five months session.

Despite the approximately 300 laws which the legislature enacted before adjourning, many things were left undone, some too urgent to be postponed until the next regular session in 1941.

Actions Not Completed

The legislature left without appropriating sufficient relief funds for the next two years, failed to enact remedial legislation to aid the farmers and postponed until another date state aid for the anthracite industry. At the present rate of spending the $127,000,000 appropriated for relief would not last more than a year. The total spent for the biennium ending today totaled $209,000,000.

If a special session is held this year it would most likely be called after the fall elections. If postponed until next year, it would in the nature of things have to be held in the late winter or early spring so as not to conflict with the spring primaries and the national presidential conventions which follow.

The legislature adjourned with the knowledge that it had satisfied

Early Announcement Of Britain, France, Russia Assistance Pact Seen

By CHARLES A. SMITH

LONDON, May 31.—Announcement that last minor Soviet objections had been ironed out, and that Russia, Britain, and France at last were united again in an escape-proof alliance of automatic mutual assistance, was expected by diplomatic circles to be made, possibly as early as today.

Europe's attention was centered on Moscow, where in the Kremlin Vyacheslav Molotov, premier and foreign commissar, will go before the supreme Soviet (parliament) tonight for his first public statement on Russian foreign policy.

Hopes were high in London and Paris that Molotov, either in his speech or in notes to Britain and France, would give the Soviets' assent to Anglo-French proposals for a binding entente against the Fascist powers.

On the other hand, there were disturbing reports from Paris that the Soviets, fearing the Anglo-French draft pact left too many loopholes, were holding out for a more air-tight agreement, and Molotov might skirt the question entirely in his address.

Insists Russia Has Agreed

The Daily Mail's Paris correspondent, however, insisted flatly that Russia had agreed to join Britain and France, and that Molotov would confirm the decision today.

Booth was a WPA worker and Thomas a farmer. Turner said that he was unable to account for Thomas' presence in the home of Booth and Basel.

(International News Service)

An early checkup indicated today that at least 23 in Pennsylvania met violent deaths over the holiday period as the state and the nation paused in its daily toils to observe Memorial Day and honor its soldier-dead.

The roll of drums and the tramp of marching feet, ending at some cemetery with the doleful sounding of "taps," marked the majority of the celebrations during the morning.

In the afternoon, the bright, sunny weather beckoned thousands to the highways, picnic groves and swimming pools, to the accompaniment of smashed fenders, accident and scores of minor injuries.

Central Pennsylvania accounted for most of the fatalities in the early checkup, reporting eight violent deaths; Eastern Pennsylvania reported six, while Western Pennsylvania's record showed five.

Wilber Smiley, 13, of Bentleyville R. F. D. was killed near his Washington county home when thrown from a machine which left the highway and struck a tree.

Ed Tygart, seven-months-old Carnegie baby, was killed in a crash near Uniontown that also saw four adults injured.

No Cow-Girl Uniforms—American Girls More Smartly Dressed Than London Women

(International News Service)

LONDON, May 31.—American farmerettes, in London 250 strong today, proved a bitter disappointment to Britons who expected to see cow-girl costumes and overalls paraded through Bond St. and hear "Yip-ee" in Piccadilly.

Here to attend with the 750 other women from 30 countries the triennial conference of the Associated Country Women of the World, the rural ladies from America were more smartly dressed and at ease than the average London woman.

The newspapers started out hopefully enough, with headlines saying: "Mrs. Wild West Comes to Town," "One-Horse-Town Women Look at London."

It took but a day for the Americans to win over the press, and finally one newspaper condescended to admit they were not "country bumpkins," but many were "clever college graduates with high degrees in domestic economy and technical subjects relating to country life."

HARRISBURG, May 31.—Maj. Lynn G. Adams, Harrisburg, whose confirmation as commissioner of state motor police was repeatedly blocked by a Democratic senate minority during the 1939 legislative session, was granted an interim appointment by Gov. Arthur H. James today.

Adams, a veteran of 30 years in state police duty, must still run the gauntlet of senate confirmation at either a special session of the legislature or the next regular session.

The interim appointment of Adams came as no surprise since Governor James has consistently emphasized that the former state police superintendent would be given the job even if the senate failed to confirm him.

British Labor Votes In Favor Of Conscription

SOUTHPORT, Eng., May 31.—British labor, representing the country's second most powerful political group, attacked and ridiculed conservative Prime Minister Neville Chamberlain for his foreign policy today, yet went on record with an overwhelming vote in favor of conscription.

A motion calling on the labor party to "resist any form of conscription, industrial or military, in peace or in war, by a government whose foreign policy labor could not trust, went down to defeat by delegates representing 1,670,000 party members against 286,000.

At the same time, in the annual party conference, Laborites began planning for the anticipated general election late in October or early in November, when labor will make a bid to return to control of the government.

Editor Morrison Speaks To Rotary

Greenville Publisher Gives Local Club Sample Of His Humor

New Castle Rotarians heard John L. Morrison, editor and manager of the Greenville Record-Argus and noted humorist, give one of his interesting, stimulating addresses at their weekly luncheon on Monday.

He had three topics for his speech, but he confessed that while the topics varied the talk was just one and the same. Morrison was introduced by one of his closest New Castle friends, Rotarian Fred L. Rentz.

During the noon message the popular publisher told the clubmen that, when it comes right down to things, all that's wrong with the world is "Rotary, newspapers and movies—that's all!" And then, humorously, he let them know why.

And then there were some who just stayed at home and rested and smoked a read, and the ones who were feeling a trifle down, spent most of the day in bed. But the day was right for a lot of fun here or for those away, and now its back to the job again, its hot, ninety-four today.

President Back In Washington

Summons Congress Leaders For Conference On Neutrality Action

MAY DEFER HIS JOURNEY WEST

By GEORGE DURO International News Service Staff Correspondent

WASHINGTON, May 31.—A show-down on congressional adjournment—involving implications both of the 1940 campaign and the administration drive to amend the Neutrality Law—appeared imminent today.

President Roosevelt returned home from a brief Hyde Park holiday with the "big four" of congress scheduled as his first callers.

Vice President Garner, Speaker Bankhead, Senate Majority Leader Barkley and House Majority Leader Rayburn had received telegraphic invitations from Hyde Park to appear today in the oval room of the White House.

President Wants To Know Judging from the president's advance statements, he wanted to know:

1. Will he be able to make the cross-country swing he has planned, beginning June 15?

2. What are congressional intentions towards revising the current Neutrality Act so the president may have more discretion in saying which nations shall and shall not be sold American arms in event of war?

The tour to the Pacific coast is regarded as a sentiment-testing trip by Mr. Roosevelt in advance of making any statement on the third term issue.

A change in the Neutrality Law was sponsored by the president. He endorsed everything Secretary of State Hull said the other night in calling for discard of the present act.

It was recalled that Mr. Roosevelt, in his last message to congress, suggested "victims" might be victimized and aggressor nations sold arms under the statute as it now reads.

Word from Capitol Hill was that an early adjournment drive was under way which involved scrapping of everything but taxes, relief, and Social Security revision.

President Roosevelt had been planning on a western departure about June 15 on the assumption congress would be in session until August. He also indicated that he expected action on neutrality revision.

If the leaders tell him today they can get out of Washington by mid-July—even at the expense of neutrality—Mr. Roosevelt said he would defer his trip across country.

It was anticipated, however, that the president would suggest strongly to the leaders that they keep congress in session until there was action on relaxing of the Neutrality Law.

LEGISLATURE ENDS; SPECIAL SESSION COLL SEEMS LIKELY

some groups and dissatisfied others. It failed to reduce taxes, but at the same time did not increase them.

Some Things Done

Of aid to business was the repeal of the capital stock tax, saving manufacturers and others $42,000,000 biennially beginning in 1941. Of aid to employers was the revision of the state's labor laws and the reduction of payments for workmen's compensation.

Of aid to the utilities was the 50 per cent slash in the Public Utility Commission's expenses which the PUC asserts will force it to curtail its activities and at the same time reduce the assessments public utilities pay for the commission's upkeep.

Numerous groups and blocs were left dissatisfied, among them the farmers, the teachers' large coal operators and labor. The farmers, notably milk producers, were left dissatisfied because no milk legislation was passed. At the same time a legislative investigation was stopped.

Teachers were dissatisfied because the teachers' tenure act was amended over their protests, old-line anthracite operators were angry over defeat of the Kane anthracite bill, and labor objected strenuously to the revision of the state's "little Wagner act", the unemployment compensation law and the workmen's compensation act.

Defeat of the Kane anthracite bill and the governor's attempt to revise the liquor laws by creating district licensing boards weakened the James administration and left its mark on departing legislators, with house Republicans prone to lay the blame on their senate colleagues, where the coal and liquor administration-sponsored bills were wrecked.

EARLY AGREEMENT ON ASSISTANCE PACT IS FORESEEN

Anglo-French draft plan conforms to authoritative predictions available for several days. Points are: 1.—In the event of any attack in Europe on Russia, France or Great Britain, the other two contracting powers will become automatically involved.

2.—If Poland or Rumania is attacked, the three signatories will go to their aid.

3.—If any of the Balkan states is attacked, the powers will consult once to decide whether assistance shall be forthcoming.

4.—The triple alliance is to be implemented by early consultations on cooperation among the general staffs of Britain, France, and the U. S. R. R.

5.—The pact is to apply for an initial period of five years.

But Soviet suspicions remain aroused by a proposed clause in the alliance providing that mutual assistance accord with article XVI of the League of Nations convention—the article calling for military and economic sanctions against branded aggressor nations.

Russia is said to feel that the Cumberstone league machinery would give "perfidious alibi" and France an "out" in case they did not want to leap to Russia's side in a war. The Soviets insist adamantly on an iron-clad, uncompromising pact of automatic assistance, with no possibility of delays or evasions.

GOVERNOR NAMES MAJ. L. G. ADAMS

Adams is a native of Susquehanna county and received his early education in the Scranton public schools. Possessing an enviable record in two wars—the Spanish-American and the World War—Adams entered the state police upon its inception in 1905.

He was named deputy superintendent of state police in January 1920 and superintendent three months later. In his lengthy police career, Adams witnessed numerous labor uprisings among Pennsylvania's coal miners and silk mill workers in particular.

In 1935, when the Democratic-controlled legislature merged the highway patrol and state police into the motor patrol unit, Adams split with former Gov. George H. Earle and resigned after refusing to accept a deputy commissionership under Admiral Percy W. Foote, head of the police group until early this year.

Five Arrested By Detroit Police Result Of Strike

Find Blackjacks And Baseball Bats In Auto Of Trio From Evansville, Indiana

(International News Service)

DETROIT, May 31.—Five arrests were made today as the CIO and Homer Martin auto workers union engaged in guerrilla warfare with guns, blackjacks and baseball bats over the CIO strike at the Briggs Manufacturing Company.

The arrests were made as federal labor conciliator James P. Dewey was preparing a decision on 28 CIO grievance claims, a decision expected to do much to settle the ten-day strike that has forced more than 70,000 workers into idleness.

Three men who said they came from Evansville, Ind., to "help Homer Martin settle the strike," were arrested when police found blackjacks and baseball bats in their automobile. The trio, George Grahman, 32, Sam Miller, 28, and Fred Mitchell, 33, were stopped for questioning after police saw their automobile circle a CIO auto workers hall several times.

A Chrysler Corporation plant in Evansville has been forced to shut down by the strike.

Thirteen men were captured by police as they allegedly prepared an ambush for Jesse Taylor, 27, a Martin follower who said he was beaten last week. The men were taken outside a restaurant. Police found Taylor hiding in the restaurant basement.

The drivers of the two cars in which the men drove to the restaurant were arrested after police said they found a blackjack and baseball bat in each car.

Brownmiller To Face Trial First

Former State Secretary Of Highways Is Expected To Go On Trial In June

(International News Service)

HARRISBURG, May 31.—Former state secretary of highways Roy E. Brownmiller will go on trial in Harrisburg next month—first of 12 high ranking Democrats indicted in sequence of the Dauphin county grand jury inquiry of graft charges in the administration of former Gov. George H. Earle.

District Attorney Carl B. Shelley confirmed reports that Brownmiller's trial probably will begin on June 12, with Judge Howard Hughes, Washington county jurist specially assigned to the case, presiding.

Shelley, who directed the five-month-long investigation into 1938 campaign charges attributing graft and corruption to Brownmiller and other Democrats, declined to discuss trials pending against awaiting plans for the others.

On Monday Hughes dismissed one indictment naming five members of the Dauphin county Democratic committee on charges of conspiracy to "blackmail and extort" campaign contributions and upheld eight other indictments linking three former Earle cabinet officers and nine other persons prominent in Democratic circles.

Named in the indictments upheld were former secretary of the commonwealth David L. Lawrence, former secretary of labor and industry Ralph M. Bashore, H. H. Temple, dismissed chief highways engineer; James P. Kirk, Pittsburgh insurance agent; and Victor Skok, an associate of Kirk.

The five against whom the indictments was dismissed were: Wendell P. C. Morgenthau, Clyde H. Smith, Frank R. Heen, William B. Freeland and Robert Fager. All, however, were named in one of the eight true bills upheld by the court.

Employees Of Axe's Market And Families Enjoy Memorial Day Picnic And Outing

Memorial Day was a red letter occasion for employees of Axe's Market of this city, when they gathered at a popular recreation center for an all-day outing. They were accompanied by their families, and the guest list numbered approximately a hundred.

Various amusements and pastimes for all ages were created which afforded everyone an enjoyable time. A series of moshball games was a feature, dancing, ping-pong and other diversions also held sway. Elmer Suber and Edward Taylor were winners in the races.

The youngest present was Mary Jane Taylor, five months old.

At noon dinner was served, and in the evening the day was completed with another sumptuous menu.

On the committee was D. W. Axe, general chairman in charge of arrangements, ably assisted by Bert Taylor, Bert McKibben and Elizabeth Aiken.

Others who co-operated included the following committees: Food, Mrs. Florence Dale, Mrs. Minnie McCormick, Ethel Dunlevy, Mrs. Rupert and Lottie Scott; reservations, Eddie Eppinger and Bill Taylor; amusement, Doris Pix, Anna Patterson, Thelma Whiting and Wayne Moore; utilities, Bill Burgacz, Wally Rice, Ethel Wagner, Alice Slack and Harry Brockmarkel; transportation, Bert Taylor and Russell Wilson; dessert, Mrs. Dorothy Moore and Bert McKibben.

The occasion was such an overwhelming success in every way, that a similar outing was planned for July 4, with Anna Patterson, Al Porter, Bert McKibben and Perry Rogers.

The Parent Problem

By Garry C. Myers, Ph. D.

CHOOSING A VOCATION

At what age should a child be able to decide on his life's work? No one really knows. You and I know some successful persons who as early as they can remember wanted to enter the field they now pursue. We also know some successful persons who chose their present vocation relatively late in adolescence, even after they were adults.

A few of these persons are not now doing what they had prepared themselves to do. They may, indeed, have made several shifts in choices before they found their niche. Furthermore, alas! there are a great many people who, because of economic conditions, have been forced to work at things not at all related to their major interests or preparation. For them it's a matter of keeping body and soul together.

Strong Pressure
Up until recent years, strong pressure was brought upon youths in high school, even much earlier, to make a choice of life's work. Even now most students of junior or senior high school level are supposed to write down for the school record one or two vocational choices. Many a youth is made to believe he lacks purpose, foresight and the right stuff of character if he has not made a vocational choice.

In my humble judgment too much pressure is exercised on the young adolescent to express a vocational choice.

As a rule, it is well for youth in junior or senior high school, even in college, to consider two or more possible fields of life work, and to keep himself in readiness to shift his plans. It is, however, exceedingly important to make early decisions on a professional or non-professional direction. Unless those courses are successfully pursued in high school which lead to college, the way to the professions is closed.

Too Many Aspirations
On the other hand, far too many youths aspire to the professions. Good home and school guidance steer those away from the professional route who do not rank in the higher levels of achievement in the basic school subjects, who have not been earning far more than average grades at school.

Within the professions—medicine, law, ministry, teaching, engineering and the like—there is not much reliable guidance possible before college. It is chiefly a matter of interest and related aptitudes in special subjects.

But any person who presumes to tell your boy or girl at 12 exactly what vocation this child should choose is either an over-zealous, careless thinker or a quack. The careful expert does not put excessive faith even in standard vocational tests. He treats the scores on such tests merely as straws in the wind.

Just Folks

By EDGAR A. GUEST

MAN'S PURPOSE

A month ago we strewed the seed. Things nature fashioned for the seed.

To carry wild as any weed.
But captive now, in packages:
Caught by the hand of man and trained
That richer beauty might be gained.

Today the plants we move about
And set them orderly in rows:
Throw out and there the weaklings out.

Not as the wind in wandering blows,
But with the right of choice precise.
And with an eye to what is nice.

Nature has neither time nor care
For little plots of garden space.
Her seed she scatters everywhere
For preservation of the race.
She leaves to man her works to take
And of them something better make.

So as I set my marigold
And zinnia, born of captive seed,
And strive their loveliness to hold
By fighting the encroaching weed,
I think perhaps God needed man
To help and foster nature's plan.

The World AND THE Mud Puddles

A TIMELY SUGGESTION

The latest proposal to tap the national till is that of Wage-Hour Administrator Andrews, who thinks the forty-eight states should have some federal money with which to administer their present and forthcoming wage-hour laws and generally cooperate with him. The idea would strike a responsive chord in places—forty-eight places, perhaps—but it seems to us it does not go quite far enough.

Would it not be well if the states also received some federal funds with which to buy pocket handkerchiefs for their governors and legislators and to hire qualified technicians to instruct them in the art of wiping their noses?

We should have a national standard for that, too.

Hints On Etiquette

When the first strains of the bridal march end at a wedding, the ushers march down the aisle two and two, followed by the bridesmaids, then the maid of honor, the flower girl, and last the bride alone or on the arm of her father, brother or other male relative.

HINTS AND DINTS

Sun sets tonight 7:23. Sun rises tomorrow 4:31.

Something queer can always be found against great men. Mr. Chamberlain, great man in England, has lugged the same umbrella around for 11 years. Bet he has had to watch it.

COURAGEOUS
We note that the Nazis have issued an order to make German women beautiful.

No American government would have the nerve to even intimate that our girls aren't already beautiful as the flowers of spring.

One thing sure the word "economy" is not very well known in Washington. "Liberal" is a word that is used more than any other. That word in Washington means other people's money.

Last week we wore a suit of clothes made in 1927. Some who saw it thought it was a new suit. That's real economy.

Refreshments: Sweet and fancy substitutes for honest victuals, usually served at parties. Lunch: The same stuff served at drug stores.

National Flag Week will be from June 11 to June 17. The big flag day will be Sunday, June 11. If ever there was a time when our flag should get attention it is now.

After all the King of England is quite human. He got his fingers pinched in a car door just like many of us have.

TODAY'S STORYETTE
He was a tall, square-shouldered fellow. His moustache bristled, and his steel-gray eyes gleamed when he recounted his army days.

"Yes," he said looking at his insignificant companion, "when I was in the guards the drill was perfect. When we presented arms, all you could hear was 'slap, slap, click!' Were you in any regiment, my good man?"

"Aye, sort of, ye know. I was in the Lancashire Fusiliers," he replied. "Drill wasn't so bad, ye know. When we were on parade and presented arms, all ye could hear was 'Slap, slap, jingle!'"

"That's impossible," the Guardsman exclaimed. "How on earth did you get the jingle?"

"O," replied the man, in a modest tone, "medals!"

Shallow men believe in luck, believe in circumstances. It was somebody's name or he happened to be there at the time, or it was so then, and another day it would have been otherwise.

As long as they keep printing those "No Admission" signs we can't hope to get anywhere.

Carlie is pretty busy these days, his friends tell us. It seems he has started out to find what becomes of the holes in the doughnuts after the succent rings are eaten.

We personally have suspected the doughnut makers use the same holes over and over again.

TRY TO PROMISE YOURSELF
To be so strong that nothing can disturb your peace of mind.

To talk health, happiness and prosperity to every person you meet.

To make all your friends feel that there is something in them.

To look at the sunny side of everything and make your optimism come true.

To think only of the best, to work only for the best and to expect only the best.

To be just as enthusiastic about the success of others as you are about your own.

To forget the mistakes of the past and press on to the greater achievements of the future.

To wear a cheerful countenance at all times and give every living creature you meet a smile.

To give so much time to the improvement of yourself that you have no time to criticize others.

To be too large for worry, too noble for anger, too strong for fear, and too happy to permit the presence of trouble.—On a Card Handed In.

In the old days the kids were told to be seen and not heard. When television comes the only thing that will save us will be to turn it off when the ads come on.

It is said the only chance President Roosevelt has for a third term is if we have a war. Well, he has done about as much war talking as he could do so far.

NO OBJECTION
"To keep things straight, I may as well tell you, that we are vegetarians," said the mistress to the new maid.

"That's all right, bless your soul," said the maid heartily. "Religion won't matter to me at all because I personally am a Free Thinker."

American chemical independence has been achieved, the chemical society announces, and this certainly sounds good, what with all the talk about bondage in this old world of ours.

Fire whistles have been abandoned in Ohio city because they attracted too many spectators who interfered with the fighting of the blaze. They want a nice quiet fire without very many people knowing about it.

Good Taste

Reg. U. S. Patent Office

A traffic officer caught up with a woman speeder, signaled her to a standstill, and approached her car. "As soon as I saw you come around the curve," he said, "I said to myself: '45 at least!'"

"Well," sniffed the woman, "you're away off. It's this hat that makes me look so old."

It wasn't until he had an original thought that Mrs. Hum suspected his mental condition.

All circus elephants come from India.

Hi Hum says lots of girls smoking cigarettes are too young to play with matches.

HE WAS TIRED
One day a woman got on the elevator in a large department store.

She started to talk to the elevator boy, began by asking questions:

"Don't you ever get tired going up and down in the elevator all day?"

"Yes, ma'am." "Is it the motion of going up?" "No, ma'am."

"The motion of going down?" "No, ma'am." "Opening that heavy door?" "No, ma'am." "Well, what does make you tired then?"

"I guess it's answering all the questions, ma'am," said the boy meekly.

President Still Good Politician
Knows Best Way Of Getting Votes
Business Organizations Contrasted

By CHARLES P. STEWART
Central Press Columnist

WASHINGTON, May 31.—Why was the American Retail Federation, recently in convention in Washington, apparently so much friendlier to President Roosevelt than the United States Chamber of Commerce seemed to be at its gathering in the capital a short time previously?

The Chamber of Commerce wound up its session with the adoption of a set of resolutions panning the New Deal mercilessly.

The Retail Federation greeted the White House tenant enthusiastically when he appeared as its guest at its meeting's closing banquet and fairly split the roof with applause at the end of the speech he made to its members.

Scarcely a kindly word for the chief executive was heard at the Commerce Chamber's affair. Scarcely an unkindly one was heard for him at the Retail Federation's. Politicians, who notice such things, are somewhat puzzled to account for the contrast.

The Chamber and the Federation both consist of businessmen. To be sure, the Chamber's members, on an average, are bigger businessmen than the Federation's. A few merchant princes do, indeed, belong to the Federation, but the rank and file comparatively are smaller. The Chamber is made up largely of moguls—bankers, manufacturers and jobbers. Nevertheless, they're all businessmen. Has the New Deal been a good thing for relatively little business, but a bad thing for big business? That's what analysts would like to determine, but they haven't succeeded in doing it yet.

Roosevelt's Personality
For one thing, the president didn't attend the Chamber's blowing. The Chamber wanted him to do so and to furnish it with some oratory, but he excused himself rather curtly. The Chamber took this as a snub, which probably it was intended to be. Maybe it was natural. If that was it, it was good and plenty resentful.

On the opposite hand, when the Federation sent an invitation to F. D., he accepted it cordially. It was a natural, on the Federation's part, to be as appreciative.

All the same, that's only a superficial explanation. The reason the president turned down the Chamber was that he knew in advance it was hostile to him. If he'd addressed it, the chances were that he'd have been heckled. He'd have been placed in a defensive, not to say an undignified position.

But he figured, correctly, that he'd make a hit with the Federation. It goes practically without saying that he likes to make hits whenever, and wherever they're available—and here was an opportunity for him to score one.

His judgment was elegant. If he'd addressed the Chamber of Commerce, it doubtless would have been perfunctorily polite to him, but it would have been essentially sassy. If he'd addressed the Retail Federation, he'd have missed 'em all.

The Fundamental Issue
Basically that doesn't settle the question. How did F. D. know that big business opposes him? And that little business is pro-New Dealer?

Well, it doesn't matter HOW he knew it.

Evidently he DID know it. It's immaterial which is right and which is wrong. He had 'em assessed reasonably correctly.

There's a lot of big business talk to the effect that his reasoning before the Retail Federation is fallacious. Nevertheless he got along with it. Big business certainly is more influential than retailing, but it isn't as numerous.

Numerous votes are what President Roosevelt is after. He knows how to get 'em.

The Great Game Of Politics

By FRANK R. KENT

Old Pat Turned The Trick

WASHINGTON, May 31. PERMITTED at long last to present their "views on tax revision" with the statement that the President "entirely approves" the strained and solemn faces of Secretary of the Treasury Morgenthau and his aide, Mr. Hanes, have, as the saying goes, been saved.

If this face-saving performance had not been staged the position of the Messrs. Morgenthau and Hanes would have been pitiable indeed. Either they would have had to retire from the jobs which they cherish so dearly or hold on to them at the price of public humiliation to which few men would submit. The sufferings of the pair in the last few weeks have been intense, and the Morgenthau declaration of Saturday, modified and emasculated as it was, relieves them of a heavy load. Neither of these high fiscal officials will ever shine as brightly as he did earlier in the year. Nor, however much they may pretend, will any except the incurably glib believe that they can feel quite the same toward their revered Chief in the White House.

NO one, however, dislikes his devotion, takes their kind of beating without developing some sore spots. Certainly, it must bruise them more than a little to reflect upon the fact that it was not the President who extricated them from an extremely painful predicament but that hard-boiled, old-time economy-preaching, regular Democrat, Senator Pat Harrison, of Mississippi. It was Old Pat who pulled them out of the hole, and no one else. If it hadn't been for Old Pat, they would still be where the President left them, a couple of sorry-looking objects indeed. They are not so pretty as if Pat hadn't put the pressure on the President.

THE chronology of this Treasury tax-revision farce can be briefly given. Six months ago, with what they justly thought was Presidential support, Mr. Morgenthau and Mr. Hanes began work on a "comprehensive tax-revision plan." They did not exactly hide their light under a bushel. On the contrary, they confided their plans to various friendly journalists and soon the papers were full of the great Morgenthau-Hanes scheme for bringing about business recovery by scientific tax revision. It was much more favorable comment than Hopkings, the great business appeaser, let it be known that he thought well of the plan. It got support from all sides and the Messrs. Morgenthau and Hanes were happy as a couple of larks.

IT was in March that Mr. Roosevelt, reacting to the young radicals of the "inner circle," began to balk at business appeasement and cool off on the Morgenthau-Hanes activity. For while the Treasury boys just could not believe it and, in the absence of a positive prohibition, continued to put up a good front. It was about three weeks ago that the blow finally fell and the President at a press conference let it be known that he had no tax recommendations to propose, that he was opposed to repealing either undivided-profits or capital-gains tax, and that any "views" the Treasury had would represent neither him nor the Administration. In brief, he scuttled the scheme and for days two sadder men than Mr. Morgenthau and Mr. Hanes were not to be found in Washington.

IT WAS sometime later, while they were still filled with despair and resignation rumors were rife, that another White House conference was held. Mr. Roosevelt again expressed his feelings that no tax revision was necessary and added that he had—and the Treasury would have—no plan to offer. It was then that Senator Harrison very bluntly told Mr. Roosevelt that, whether he liked it or not, he would get a tax bill this session, because the Congress intended to pass one removing the tax irritants to which business particularly objected.

FOR some days there was sulking on the subject at the White House, despondency at the Treasury and determination upon the part of the chairman of the Senate Finance Committee. Then, after it had been made quite clear that Senator Harrison could and would make good on what he had said, friendly Senator James Byrnes, of South Carolina, was able to negotiate another conference, at which the President and Senator Harrison had a conciliatory talk. Following that, Mr. Roosevelt let it be known that he had no real objection to the repeal of the undivided-profits-tax and that the whole business was a misunderstanding due to "inaccurate stories" in the newspapers.

THIS, of course, was in line with settled White House policy of putting the blame on the newspapers whenever he finds himself in an uncomfortable corner, with no way out except to admit mistake or defeat. It fooled few people. Every posted person in Washington knew (Continued On Page Five)

Registrations Being Taken For Girl Scout Camp

Must Register Early To Be Accommodated, Camp Committee Announces Today

IMPROVEMENTS MADE AT CAMP

With accommodations for only 100 Girl Scouts available at the annual summer camp, which will take place again at Camp Kiondashawa, the camp location of the Sharon Boy Scouts at Transfer, Pa., recommendation was made today by Mrs. F. E. Sowersby, Girl Scout Commissioner and Mrs. W. H. Hauger, chairman of the camp committee, that those expecting to attend register immediately in order to insure a place in camp.

Mrs. Sowersby and Mrs. Hauger inspected the camp last week, and found a number of improvements have been made. More boats will be available for use this year, it is stated giving the campers more time on the river.

Work is being carried forward on mosquito elimination and it is hoped that by the time the girls go to camp on August 13, that the mosquitoes will be scarce.

The camp folders, telling all about the camp, are out and have been distributed to the troops. Registration can now be made for the camp, it is stated, every week day from 9 to 5 o'clock at the Girl Scout office.

The gypsy and Pioneer units, composed of the older and more experienced girls will be limited to 12 this year. One of the innovations will be a hobby unit for girls 14 years of age or older and one of the features will be instruction in photography and printing and developing of one's own pictures.

The camp staff is almost completed, and the committee is well pleased with the staff who have been secured up to date. As has been announced previously, the Camp Director will be Miss Audrielle Lynch, better known to the girls as "Lindy". It is expected that it will be possible to announce the complete staff shortly.

Enthusiasm and interest shown so far indicates a full camp for this summer.

The real story, knew, too, that the next step would be to rescue the Messrs. Morgenthau and Hanes by putting on a face-saving act. The simple truth is that the rescue, such as it was, was due to Old Pat's determination to pass a tax bill embodying his own ideas, which happened to coincide with those of the Treasury heads and with practically every business organization in the country. The bill will lack a lot of being adequate or scientific, but if the President hadn't been pressed and prodded by Old Pat, there wouldn't be any revision at all. Also, that haggard look which for weeks was riveted upon the countenances of Mr. Morgenthau and Mr. Hanes might never have come off.

The autograph of Martha Washington commands a higher price than that of her husband, George, as it is rarer. George Washington's autograph, however, is worth ten times as much as that of Theodore Roosevelt.

Congress Nearing Vote On Townsend Plan Bill

By WILLIAM S. NEAL
International News Service Staff
Correspondent

WASHINGTON, May 31.—With the political life of scores of its 431 members at stake, the house today opens debate on the Townsend old-age pension bill, with a show-down roll-call vote scheduled for tomorrow.

In spite of the reluctance of many members to say "yes" or "no" on an issue loaded with political dynamite, Dr. Francis E. Townsend, mid-managed leader of the pension group, joined Democratic leaders in pressing for a show-down.

The Hendricks bill, embracing the Townsend plan, was expected to be defeated by a smashing vote. The ways and means committee, which will report its own social security revision bill tomorrow, however, may follow by recommending a boost in federal old-age pension grant. A strong movement was underway in the committee to recommend that the present $15 a month grant to states for old-age pensions, providing the states match them, be increased to $20. This would make it possible for a state to pay a $40 a month pension.

Strategy Meeting
Rep. Hendricks (D) of Florida, sponsor of the Townsend plan bill, summoned supporters for a strategy meeting today. He was anxious to force a clear-cut decision in the house—and thus pave the way for the Townsend forces to fight the reelection of opponents in 1940.

Hendricks estimated that the transaction tax plan in the Townsend plan would yield $4,800,000,000 to $6,000,000,000 a year, thus paying pensions of from $50 to $79 a month. The opponents charged it would pay pensions of but $30.

LAKE REVEALS GANG VICTIM
(International News Service)
MONTICELLO, N. Y., May 31.—The body of a gangland slaying victim, which freed itself from its sashweight anchors and floated to the surface of Loch Sheldrake, was identified tentatively today as that of an underworld character known only as "Big Frenchy."

The body floated to the surface of the lake, final resting place of several New York gangsters, when the ropes binding it to the sashweights rotted away. The victim had been stabbed several times.

The identification was established through a tiny, water-soaked laundry mark, trace print of a New York tailor who recalled his work had been done for a character known as "Big Frenchy." Police were investigating a report that the victim may have been a brother-in-law of Waxey Gordon, prohibition beer baron now doing time for income tax evasion.

Zazu Pitts To Portray Real Dramatic Role

By MILTON HARKER
(International News Service)

HOLLYWOOD, May 31.—Zazu Pitts, who has made countless millions hold their sides with laughter, is at last doing what she always has wanted to do. She is getting her chance to make them cry.

She is playing a tense dramatic role in RKO's "Edith Cavell," as tense drama as will be turned out this year in Hollywood. She is the barge owner who works with Anna Neagle, as Nurse Cavell, in aiding soldiers to escape.

"I feel just like I'm starting a new career," Miss Pitts told this reporter. "I'm full of ambition again."

"I don't think there is any woman living as dumb as I have been on the screen."

Several years ago Zazu attempted to score in a small dramatic role in "All Quiet on the Western Front," but so expected her to make them laugh that they laughed at the wrong time and her part had to be eliminated from the picture. No one is fearful of the same thing happening again because Zazu is giving a terrific performance in a role which runs all through the picture. You have the word of Director Herbert Wilcox, Miss Neagle, Edna May Oliver and other members of the cast for that.

"It was when talkies came in that I was typed as a comedienne," Zazu explains. "I first went into pictures in 1918 and until 1928 I played many dramatic parts. My last silent picture was with Emil Jannings in 'Sons of the Father'."

"And then came the talkies."

"The first picture in which I played was one called 'The Dummy'. That was the beginning of the end. There was a line in which I said 'oh dear', in rather a sing-song voice and that clicked. Every script for me after that had the same 'oh dear' in it."

"My agent tried and tried to get dramatic parts for me with no success. I wanted to do something more human than I had been doing. I wanted the type of roles played by Marie Dressler, although I know I never could be a Marie Dressler."

"This part came to me without even asking for it. I met Director Wilcox crossing on the Normandie two years ago and here I am in this picture."

"Isn't it wonderful?"

In one of the longest scenes in Hollywood's history, Jimmy Stewart has just been sworn in as a member of the United States senate in "Mr. Smith Goes to Washington" at Columbia studio.

It runs for more than six minutes with Director Frank Capra happy that no one muffed their lines. Harry Carey, who once was a famous western star, plays the vice-president with Claude Rains as the senior senator who introduced Stewart.

The ceremony and the senate chamber are correct in detail because Jim Preston, who knows more about congressional procedure than any man alive, is here from Washington to see to that.

There is just one little deviation. The big clock over the vice-president's chair won't actually run so one of the reporters in the press gallery above has to turn a little crank to make the hands move.

WAKE UP YOUR LIVER BILE—

Without Calomel—And You'll Jump Out of Bed in the Morning Ready to Go

The liver should pour out two pounds of liquid bile into your bowels daily. If this bile is not flowing freely, your food doesn't digest. It just decays in the bowels. Gas builds up your stomach. You get constipated. Your whole system is poisoned and you feel sour, sick and the world looks pink.

A mere bowel movement doesn't get at the cause. It takes those good, old Carter's Little Liver Pills to get those two pounds of bile flowing freely and make you feel "up and up."

Divers Risking Lives To Raise Ill-Starred Sub

Each Descent To Sunken Squalus Is Filled With Grave Danger

MAY TAKE THREE MONTHS TO RAISE

(International News Service) PORTSMOUTH, N. H., May 31.—Preparations for raising and towing the ill-starred submarine Squalus and her entombed 26 victims to shore continued today from the naval salvage ship Falcon, each descent of a deep-sea dive a challenge to death.

At the depth of 243 feet where the $5,000,000 craft plunged a week ago the temperature is near freezing, causing helium and oxygen airlocks to condense. The pressure is 109 pounds per square inch.

Tides and weather added another hazard, as evidenced when a steel cable, one of several attaching the Squalus to the Falcon, snapped like dry string. It was repaired, but salvage officials said it was an inkling of what could happen in a real storm.

May Take Three Months Three months may be required before the Squalus is raised with pontoons.

The 129 salvage workers aboard the Falcon paused only momentarily at their work when the U.S.S. Brooklyn fired a 21 gun salute in a heroic men who drowned when the aft compartment was flooded through apparent inoperation of an induction valve during a test dive off the Isles of Shoals.

Navy fliers dropped flowers on the outgoing tide and at the Portsmouth navy yard 33 men saved in four trips in the diving bell joined with relatives of the victims and navy men in paying tribute to the dead.

Officials who say we should "fight only on our own soil" are plain silly. If troops land on our soil, it will mean our navy has been sunk.

MOVES ARE MADE TO SLASH $37,000 OFF YEAR'S BUDGET

ditutes within income without adding to the millage. President Daniel B. Woolcock, speaking for the board said, "We regret this action but we cannot see our way clear to coming anywhere near balancing the budget without such action. In addition, other economies such as the reduction of the janitor staff by about four are being considered and if we can find other places to reduce we will do so." With the exception of the abandonment of the Terrace avenue and Aiken schools, the board action was unanimous, all nine voting for it. On the abandonment of the schools, Director A. C. Hyde voted in the negative.

Action was also taken authorizing a temporary loan of up to $125,000 to meet the payroll in June and other expenses and to secure an extension of time on three temporary loans totalling $75,000 which come due in the next few weeks. Part of the reason for this was the failure of the state, thus far, to remit the state appropriation which was due in March, approximately $59,000.

Explanation Of Details The abandonment of the Terrace Avenue and Aiken schools will result in a savings of about $21,200, it was said, without removing any teachers from the system. The five in Terrace and the nine in Aiken will be absorbed in other schools due to resignations or retirements, but the net saving in teacher personnel will be 14.

The proposal to abandon the Terrace Avenue school was met with opposition by a group of men from the Polish-American Citizens club headed by Frank Noga. They argued that Terrace Avenue was the only school in the Eighth ward and to close it would be to discriminate. Director Hyde argued that it was economizing at the expense of the poor. The children in the Mahoning avenue district are among the poorest in the city.

"You can hardly set yourself up as the God of the poor," Woolcock said. "We are not thinking in terms of poor or rich children. We are thinking of economies to the taxpayer with the least inconvenience possible."

"Terrace Avenue has but 147 pupils in it. They can be absorbed in the Lincoln-Garfield school where the enrollment has dropped from 1000 to about 700. The pupils in the Aiken school can be absorbed in the North Street, Oak Street and Pollock schools."

Others Salaried The savings of $69,000 in teachers salaries by the return to the Edmunds Act level comes about as follows: In 1920 the New Castle school system was being raised by the local system. In order to make the local jobs attractive the board raised the maximum of a high school teacher from $2200, the Edmunds Act maximum, to $2400. A number of high school teachers have been getting $2400, others $2300, and many of them have been at the Edmunds Act level, $2200. In the future all will get $2200 maximum.

In the past, principals of elementary schools have been getting more than the Edmunds maximum. Principals handling more than one school have been getting $3000. One school has been getting $3000. Principals of $2800 and principals handling but one school will get $2400. High school principals will get the Edmunds maximum of $4400, which they have been getting. Principal Frank L. Orth of the senior high school has been getting $388.39 for summer work in the high school. For this service he will now get $500 over his regular salary.

Sick Leaves In the past teachers and principals have been allowed three days' sick leave each year, which was accumulative. All such accumulations are cancelled and in the future a teacher or principal will be allowed 20 days in the year in which he can take sick leave but the substitute who is hired will be paid out of the amount ordinarily paid to the teacher. The teacher will get the difference.

In the past Superintendent Clyde C. Green, Superintendent of Buildings and Grounds S. G. Ligo and Attendance Officer Helen Wilson have been allowed $40 per month for automobile expense. They will get but $20 per month in the future. The use of North street, Lincoln-Garfield and Mahoning schools in the past for night WPA classes has cost the board about $2900 per year. This will be discontinued but the WPA will be offered the use of the Aiken school for such classes if they maintain the building.

Statement To Board In presenting the resolutions to the board Vice President Clyde M. Whitaker, a member of the budget committee, read a resume of the recommendations which had been suggested at a previous informal meeting of the board.

This communication follows: At an informal meeting of members of the school board held May 17, 1939, matters of serious import affecting the financial standing of the school district were called up for consideration.

For the past few years it has been necessary, in order to avoid making loans or issuing bonds to pay current expenses, to use a large amount of prepaid taxes to carry on the business of the district. It has been necessary to use more and more of this prepaid tax in each succeeding year until at present we have used $55,000 of 1939 taxes, have borrowed $75,000 to date and in all probability will find it necessary to borrow an additional $125,000 before the close of this fiscal year on July 3, 1939.

One of the reasons for this borrowing is the fact our state appropriation of approximately $59,000, due in March, has not yet been received. This money, when received, will be applied to the reduction of temporary loans. The balance of the loans will be repaid from the tax collections received in July.

For some time the board has been considering methods whereby this situation might be remedied without seriously impairing the educational program of the school district.

Proposals 1. To close the Terrace Avenue and Aiken schools beginning with the 1939-40 term. The pupils from Terrace Avenue will be placed in the Lincoln-Garfield school and the pupils from Aiken will be allocated to North Street, Oak Street and Pollock schools.

The attendance at Terrace has reduced each year until at present the enrollment is 147. These pupils may be absorbed easily at Lincoln-Garfield without any appreciable increase in the pupil load per teacher and the benefits to be derived by the pupils involved will more than offset any inconvenience occasioned by the transfer. Terrace school is less than one-half mile from Lincoln-Garfield and the distance traveled by any pupil will not be any greater than in other sections of the city.

A few years ago the enrollment at Lincoln-Garfield was over 1,000. The present enrollment is 704, hence the addition of the 147 Terrace pupils will not cause any crowded condition or impair the educational program at that school.

The enrollment at Aiken easily may be absorbed in the three schools noted without materially affecting present conditions and will place these pupils in much safer school buildings, and without much farther travel.

2. To reduce all salaries of professional employees of the Edmunds Act.

3. To change the allowance for sick leave of all professional employees, eliminating the three day allowance with full pay and substituting therefore other allowance and deducting from the professional employee's salary, the salary paid the substitute during such leave.

4. To eliminate from further consideration the proposal to employ a full-time dentist for the school year 1939-1940.

5. To reduce the allowance for transportation fifty percent in all cases.

6. To change the allowance for special summer work for the senior high school principal.

To consider further possible reductions in plant operation, maintenance and repairs.

Summary The school board, being fully aware of the economic situation in this city and realizing the effort of all its citizens to pay their taxes and maintain a high standard of education, are convinced that any measure of economy advocated and co-operation of everyone concerned. They feel that there should be no further increase in the tax millage and that expenditures should be held to the lowest possible figure consistent with educational standards.

The general public should realize that the major part of school expenses is caused by mandated legislation which provides that school districts must do certain things as provided by the laws of the Commonwealth. The school board has no alternative—it must comply.

The school board is bending every effort to balance the budget and while the measures proposed will affect the salaries of a number of employees, they hope these persons will realize the seriousness of conditions and will accept them in a co-operative spirit.

It is estimated the savings involved in these measures of economy will be not less than $25,000.00 and will aid in large measure in the financing of the affairs of the school district.

Music was furnished by the American Legion Junior band under the direction of Joseph P. Replogle, and the high school trio and chorus, directed by Robert A. Duff, with Miss Jean Chapman as accompanist.

Rev. Father Peter Schirra, assistant pastor of St. Joseph's church, pronounced the invocation and benediction.

Russell Minick, senior high school student gave a masterful presentation of Lincoln's Gettysburg address.

Judge Braham In his address Judge Braham said in part that wars are fought by the young. Although we hate war with all our souls, war comes, and all that we can do is to play the man's part. Too much cannot be said against the man who deliberately leads his country into war, but those who would try to divert men from answering their country's call, not understand the heart of man.

Many a man has proven he had the soul of a hero, who would have no opportunity of showing it in civilian life, but who has risen to the heights in time of war.

All of the wars which have been participated in by this country have proven conclusively that this is a nation that is not to be trifled with, and had it not been for the valor and strength shown by the United States soldiers in the World War, Europe would undoubtedly be at war at this moment.

Speaking of the threat of war, he stated that the United States might remain within its borders in the event of another great conflict, but it would multiply our troubles, rather than diminish them.

In closing he outlined three courses we might pursue in such an event: first, to remain within our borders and attempt to deal with the conqueror; second, to act independently like the great empire we are and to make our name terrible throughout the world, protecting our rights wherever we deemed it necessary; third, to attempt to cooperate with peace loving men everywhere. He stated that we should act resolutely and boldly with the people who love peace.

Memorial Day should be a day we should gather our thoughts together and realize that we should remain a great united people, tolerant, liberty loving, peaceful and free. "Let us honor our departed comrades in simple beautiful devotion to our country," he concluded.

At Greenwood At Greenwood cemetery, Attorney George W. Muse and Jerry Howard presided as commander and chaplain of the Col. Daniel Leasure Camp, United Spanish War Veterans, as the ritualistic Memorial Day service of the order was carried out. Flowers were placed on the graves by C. A. Leslie, Ira Nowling and A. Jones of Harry L. McBride post.

Veterans of Foreign Wars; taps were sounded by Charles Marshall, and a firing squad from Troop K, 103rd cavalry fired a volley over the graves.

At the Diamond The Spanish War memorial was dedicated, with Mrs. Orville Van Horn presiding. She was presented by Mrs. Marie Pence president of the auxiliary, who gave the address of welcome.

Dedicate Memorial Judge Braham pronounced the invocation and benediction, and Department Commander O. G. Crawford of Erie, head of the Pennsylvania department, U. S. W. V., gave the address. It was accepted in behalf of the camp by Mrs. Marie Pence.

Hrysko disappeared while trying to rescue Meleski who could not swim.

Said to be despondent over a love affair, 18-year-old Naomi Elizabeth Pyle, York, Pa., turned a shot gun on herself, according to police. Another nearby resident of York, John G. Rohrbach, 42, was found hanging from a rafter in a barn. The county coroner said both cases were suicides.

Herman W. Sulzner, 24, of Glenside, a mechanical engineer, committed suicide by shooting himself in the heart with his son's pistol.

Stanley J. McCracken, 37, a Philadelphia real estate dealer, was thrown into the Delaware river and drowned off Exsington early today when a small outboard motorboat capsized. Two other occupants of the craft swam ashore after making a futile attempt to rescue McCracken.

James Harvey, 24, of Philadelphia was slain in a fight with three other men outside a taproom in which he had been drinking beer to cool off.

James McCoy, 58, caretaker of an estate near Collegeville, and four Philadelphia died of heat-induced heart attacks as the temperature remained at top degrees over the four-day holiday period.

Police and automobile club officials were amazed today when not a single automobile accident fatality was reported on the heavily traveled highways of the Philadelphia metropolitan area over Memorial Day.

Chester H. Brzostowski, 20, of Scranton, was drowned in French creek, two miles from Cambridge Springs yesterday.

Carl H. Butterbaugh, 16, of Belle Mills, two miles east of Pottsville, was drowned in Mahoning Creek.

Charles J. Wayne, of Pittsburgh, died from burns received in an explosion at Hamilton, nine miles from Pottsville.

Find No Trace Of Missing Girl

Chief of detectives Ray Showalter today reported officers up to noon had not yet located Miss Ruth Jenkins, 18, of 504 Martin street, who was reported by her parents, Mr. and Mrs. David Jenkins, to have disappeared while enroute to high school, Friday morning.

The girl reportedly left a note in one of her school books reading "Good-Bye Everyone." She has relatives in Florida and one supposition is that she may be hitch-hiking there.

The girl has had an excellent reputation. No explanation has been learned to cause her disappearance excepting that she has been melancholy lately.

Dr. Dafoe's Column On The Quintuplets And The Care Of Your Children

(Copyright 1938, King Features Syndicate, Inc.)

PROGRESSIVE PHYSICAL DEVELOPMENT

A year ago, when the quintuplets celebrated their fourth birthday, they had progressed amazingly in comparison to the year before. Their vocabulary had increased to four or five hundred words; their art work was becoming much more detailed—where they used to draw mere outlines of houses, they now supplied doors, steps, windows and chimneys. They were showing a great interest in natural objects around them. They were particularly attached to birds, and they saved every crumb of food they could to feed them and their little toad in the garden.

On their fourth birthday the quintuplets had their first ice cream, and they were terribly excited about it. About then, too, they began that generous habit they still have of running to the nurse to give her any objects that happened to pick up.

Their fifth year is a very eventful one for the quintuplets. This year they had their tonsils out and they met the King and Queen.

I am asked often if the quintuplets change much physically. The answer is definitely affirmative. For instance, when first we weighed them, we found that the whole five weighed nine pounds, 14 ounces.

Their first year they gained a total of 75 pounds, to tip the scales at 84 pounds, 14 ounces. The next year they didn't gain nearly as much; but on their second birthday they weighed 118 pounds, 14 ounces; their third birthday found them weighing 151 pounds, eight ounces. Last birthday they weighed 179 pounds, 12 ounces. But their big gain came this year, when they added 79 pounds, the most they've gained any year, to bring the weight up to 258 pounds, 10 ounces.

You know it's pretty hard for me to look at Marie these days and think that the first time I saw her she weighed only one pound 12 ounces. Yvonne was the heaviest quint for quite some time, but today she's the second lightest. It has been remarkable how the quintuplets have kept together in their weight gaining. The only one who hasn't seen-sawed back and forth with the others is Marie—she has always been the lightest. But Marie is gaining faster than any of them now, so the day may not be far away when she will be up with the leaders.

In her first year of life, Cecile gained 15 pounds, 13 ounces so that on her first birthday she was the heaviest quint. Second biggest gainer was Annette, who took on 15 pounds, five ounces, to hold second place. Little Yvonne, who had been heaviest of all, dropped to third place when she gained only 15 pounds one ounce. But the one to gain least, and the one who needs it most, was Marie. She only put on 13 pounds 11 ounces. Emilie took on 14 pounds, 10 ounces to keep her in fourth place, just ahead of Marie.

In the year before their second birthday they gained an average of six pounds, 13 ounces; the following year their average gain was six pounds, eight ounces; their fourth year they gained only an average of five pounds, 11 ounces. But this last year, with a total of about 70 pounds gained, their average weight increase is about 16 pounds each.

Progress must be slow. If all inventions and improvements of the last ten years were made available tomorrow, half of the old concerns would go broke.

Outdoor Ceremony For Graduation Of Penn State Class

Crowd Too Large To Have Exercises In Men's Gymnasium Building

(Special To The News)

STATE COLLEGE, Pa., May 31.—Expecting the largest graduating class in history, officials at the Pennsylvania State College have been forced to cancel customary plans to hold commencement exercises in Recreation Hall, the men's gymnasium building, and are making provisions to present diplomas on New Beaver field, the football gridiron.

Moving the commencement exercises out of doors marks the fourth time in recent years that graduating classes have "outgrown" facilities. A number of years ago graduation was held in the armory. It was then moved to the auditorium, and with the continued growth of the College, the exercises were finally held on front campus.

When Recreation Hall was built in 1929, college officials expected that its capacity of over 5,000 would be sufficient for many years. It is expected, however, that guests of the College over commencement week-end will number 7,000.

According to William S. Hoffman, registrar, 1207 students have been placed on the tentative graduation list. Well over a thousand of these will be candidates for baccalaureate degrees.

Provincial Players To Broaden Scope

Entering their second year of residence in their own playhouse, the Provincial Players plan to expand their activities and on June 5 try-outs will be held in the theater for persons interested.

On Friday night the players held a first anniversary birthday party. Games and dancing passed the hours and a birthday cake with one candle on it was cut and served.

MALE CHORUS

This evening the New Castle Male Chorus, instead of meeting at the Y.W.C.A. hall as previously announced, will meet for final rehearsal at North street school at 7 o'clock. Transportation and admission arrangements will also be completed to the Elstedsdoff at Warren, O., on Saturday.

King And Queen Prepare To Head Eastward On Tour

Take Last Look At Pacific Today

Presentation Of The Colors Ceremony Is Seen At Victoria, B. C.

BRITISH RULERS ENJOYING TRIP

By WALTER KIERNAN
International News Service Staff Correspondent

VICTORIA, B. C., May 31.—King George and Queen Elizabeth took their last look at the Pacific today from the Canadian shore and prepared to turn east and some sixty thousand Americans took their last look at the king and queen and prepared to turn south.

Victoria, jammed to the eaves with visitors, put on a good show for their majesties and received a good show in return.

Attic windows brought fifty dollars for the day and grandstand seats at Beacon Hill brought fifty dollars for a half hour display.

Of the several formal events of the day, the ceremony of the presentation of colors to the Royal Canadian navy was both unique and colorful. Never before in the history of the Canadian navy has it received its colors direct from the hands of the king and although the Canadian navy numbers less than a thousand men, they made a brave show.

Flower-Bordered Setting

Victoria is known as the garden city of the dominion and it was in a flower-bordered setting that the presentation of colors was staged. There were 70,000 people clustered on the hillsides which form a natural amphitheatre and the navy was drawn up in hollow square formation facing a red-carpeted platform. Gold braided captains in cocked hats and long swords stood at stiff attention on one side of the platform and clergy in colorful robes on the other, the Roman Catholic Bishop of Victoria, the Anglican bishop, the pastor of the United naval and military chapel.

With the arrival of the king and queen, the new colors of the navy were laid on the drums stacked in front of the platform and were blessed by each of the clergy whose words were lost in continuous cheering of the crowd. After the blessing, the king came down from the platform, lifted the banner and presented it to Lieutenant J. C. Hibbard, the color bearer, who knelt reverently on one knee to receive it. As the king returned to the platform, the color bearer stood erect, proudly raised his colors and then slowly dipped them in salute until they touched the ground. Only for the king do the colors touch ground and it is an act both of submission and of fierce patriotism.

Miniature Totem Pole

Earlier in the legislature, both king and queen showed delight when the printed address of the premier was presented to them enclosed in a hollowed-out miniature totem pole. The queen also smiled her pleasure when she noted that the address was tied with a ribbon complimenting the Parquhar clan of Scots with which her own family, the Lyon family, is affiliated. And she smiled again when two old pipers cut loose with "My Pretty Brown Haired Maiden" as the ceremony ended and the royal party was leaving the legislative chambers.

Today there were only brief farewell ceremonies on the program with the king and queen scheduled to leave before lunch time (Pacific Time) for Vancouver by boat, where they will entrain for Jasper National Park and another brief rest. That both have enjoyed their western trip was evident in the king's speech at the provincial government luncheon. "To travel through so grand a country is a privilege to any man," he said. "But to travel through it to the accompaniment of such an overwhelming testimony of good will from young and old alike is an experience that has I believe been granted to few people of this world."

The age of discretion is when a young man realizes that shapeless ankles will be easier to live with than a hateful disposition.

Westminster May Queen Court

NEW WILMINGTON, May 31.—These seven charming Westminster college co-eds will make up the annual May Queen court, which will participate in the Queen crowning ceremony on the South Terrace of Old Main Memorial, Saturday evening, June 3, at 7 o'clock.

For 25 years, Westminster held elaborate May Day pageants; but shifted in 1932 to the simple beauty of the May Queen crowning, followed by folk dancing around the May-pole.

Miss Shaffer is the daughter of Dr. and Mrs. Thomas M. Shaffer, 210 E. Euclid avenue, New Castle. Miss England is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. C. M. England, 236 Edgewood, New Castle.

The Human Side Of The News

(By EDWIN C. HILL)

Copyright 1939 King Features Syndicate, Inc.

Uniforms in public service occupations are brighter and snappier—including the new dusky blue of the United States Army. One notes this in the new garb of the New York bus drivers and in the various Graustarkian turn-outs of the small army which staffs Grover Whalen's World's Fair.

Perhaps this outburst of gay color is due to something more than the well-known showmanship of Mr. Whalen. Perhaps it is due to the very old belief that the bird with the gorgeous plumage gets the pick of the worms—and, especially, that the lad with the scarlet tanager or blue-bird uniform gets the girl.

Business executives have told this writer that the rate of marriage is definitely higher among the brightly uniformed workers than among more somberly garbed. This has been established by studies covering many occupations. It has been shown that postmen and policemen marry earlier and in greater numbers than young men in mufti of the same economic level.

I suggested that the additional security afforded by these occupations might account for the higher marriage rate. The reply was: "I have thought about that, but I don't think it has anything to do with it. Among several similar instances I know of a case where a girl married a beautifully uniformed young doorman and turned down a young business executive earning five times as much. It happens all the time."

Of course it's an old story—the girls going for a uniform. There seems to be here some definite, corroborative evidence awaiting further confirmation. In the meantime, I have questioned several executives who have to do with uniformed employees and all agree that a uniform of some kind—the brighter, the better—is the young man's best bet if he wants to get married in a hurry.

Employers are quite complacent about it, as they find that marriage is a stabilizing influence, that it decreases labor turn-over and that the youth, no matter how bright his plumage, is more apt to keep his mind on his job if he has responsibility for a home.

That naturally shades off into similar questions of domesticity in birdland. While the exact degree of our kinship with other creatures is still debatable, one thing which has been pretty definitely winnowed out of late trouble years is that Karl Marx's "economic man" is a myth—and you can raise that bet all you please when it comes to the "economic woman." And as to the birds it is the gentleman and not the lady who wears the bang-up uniform and its effectiveness in getting a mate is unquestionably established.

All the bird world, there is only one exception. That is the Phalarope, of the sub-Arctic and the Mississippi Valley. In all three species, the female is rigged out like an Elk's parade and the male is a drab little homebody who hatches the eggs and brings up the young. The minute the eggs are hatched, she is off to some chattering company of shore birds, of mixed company, in a pleasant tidal pool and comes home only when she feels like it.

In spite of our long anthology of moon-and-June songs, singing runs far behind adornment as standard equipment for ladykillers. With the birds, although bright colors come first, singing is more prominently featured and if a bird happens to be a good singer, he can pipe down on his uniform. For instances, thrushes and some sparrows are up at the top of the bill as singers, but there's nothing fancy about their dress.

On the other hand, the scarlet tanager, who doesn't know one note from another, sports a regular drum major's uniform. Again, the beautiful tailored and brightly emblazoned Baltimore oriole gets the bum's rush from the other birds when he tries to sing. In all cases, with the exception of the Phalarope, it is the male who does both the singing and the dressing up.

Do the lady birds pick the lad who is going to drag home the most worms? Not at all. Some gaudy birds who have no trouble getting mates are regular corner drugstore loafers and let the women do the work. The Latin with their balcony Romeos have, like the birds, combined singing and gay apparel. I have an idea that if those bucko lads in the new World's Fair uniforms would start singing the Fair would double its distaff attendance over night. Maybe our boys have been missing a bet there.

Seek Identity Of Man Found Ill Who Died In Hospital

Man Believed Transient, Found Unconscious Near Cement Plant, Tuesday Afternoon

City police and Coroner Charles Piper Byers are today attempting to establish the identity of a man found in an unconscious condition under a tree near the dump, north of the Lehigh Portland Cement plant on Cascade street, Tuesday afternoon, at 3:45 o'clock, who died in the New Castle hospital at 10:20 o'clock, Tuesday night.

There was nothing about his body which would lead to identification, except that he was wearing a calf-skin jacket, with the hair tanned on it, which was white with dark brown spots.

Boys playing about the scene discovered the man's condition and notified city police, who had him removed to the hospital, where he died without regaining consciousness.

Chief of Detectives H. Ray Showalter and detective Jack Young fingerprinted the man this morning and the prints will be sent to the Federal Bureau of Identification in the hope that his identity may be established. He is believed to have been a transient.

The man was around fifty years of age, five feet eight inches in height, and would weigh in the neighborhood of 145 pounds. He was bald on the top of his head, and the remainder of the hair had been allowed to grow long. He also had grown whiskers under his chin, the hair being dark brown in color. He wore a dark blue striped suit, with army type shoes.

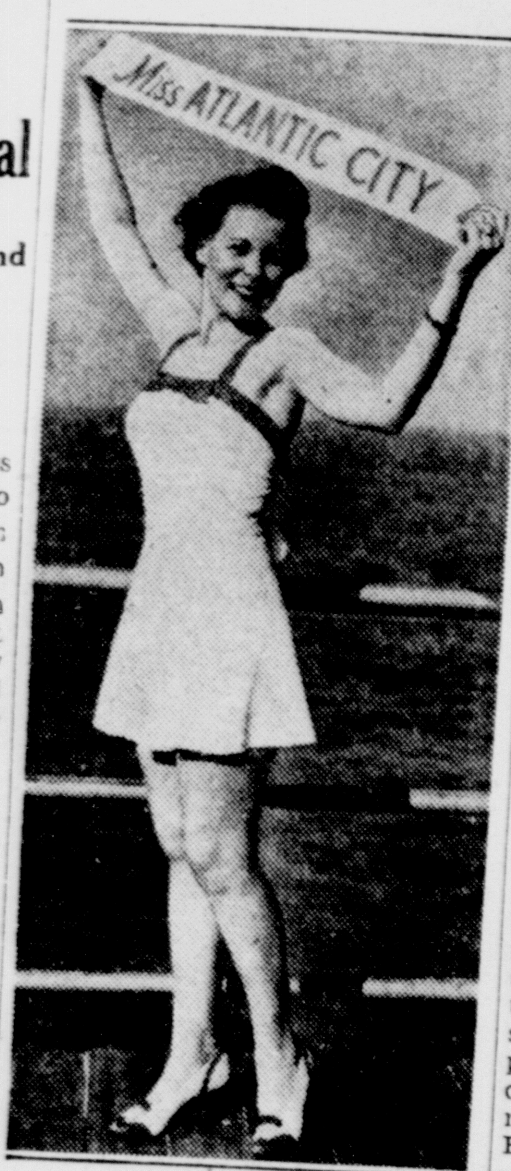

The contents of a bottle found in his possession is being analyzed to determine whether it might have been the cause of death. The body has been removed to McGonigle's undertaking rooms awaiting identification.

In his pocket were two aluminum disks about the size of a half dollar, which bore the inscription, "Red Goose Premium money," and evidently advertised a "red goose" brand of shoes.

Hoot Gibson Headliner Of Circus Coming Monday

This community soon will be host to one of the nation's most illustrious celebrities when Hoot Gibson, devil-may-care western hero, comes to New Castle on Monday, June 5, as the featured star of Russell Bros. Circus.

It is Gibson's ceaseless search for adventure that has brought him to the circus, for it is only here that he is able to find excitement and thrills such as he immortalized in celluloid for moviegoers the world over.

Unlike other cowboy stars, Hoot Gibson is an outstanding performer in his own right and he occupies the center of attention for over half an hour in the Russell Bros. thrills-packed three-ring program. Astride his famous horse, Rowdy, he performs unbelievable stunts that have never before been attempted under canvas. He exhibits his skill at roping and shooting, and winds up his performance by depicting some of the scenes from his most popular pictures. Aiding him in this department are some of Hollywood's most able stunt men, including Buckle Steele and Bill Hammond.

In addition to Gibson and his wild west presentation, Russell Bros. Circus this season is bringing an imposing array of the choicest acrobatic and trained animal acts. Thrilling feats high in the air are performed by the Flying Lesters, Aerial Lakes, Miss Aerialita's butterfly ballet, and a host of others. Those who marvel at animal education will be interested in Walter Jenner's exceptional trained sealion exhibition, Madame Bedini's magnificent horses, and Irene Led-get's elephants. And there will be all manner of clowns, wire artists, acrobats and entertaining novelties. Supplementing the big show are the wild animal displays and horse show in the meagerie, for which there is no extra charge. Doors open at 1 and 7 p. m. and the performances start at 2 and 8 p. m.

Nurse Suffering With Small Pox

Graduate Nurse Of North East, Pa., Has First Case Reported In Seven Years

(International News Service) ERIE, Pa., May 31.—Mrs. Zaida Wallin, 28, of North East, a graduate nurse, was under absolute quarantine here today with what Pennsylvania State Health authorities said was the first case of small pox in the commonwealth in seven years.

The disease, a mild case, was contracted while Mrs. Wallin was attending a patient with heart trouble in Ripley, N. Y., where 16 cases of small pox were reported during the last several weeks.

Dr. J. T. Strimple, state health director for Erie County, and Dr. P. A. Keeney of Harrisburg, assistant state director, Bureau of Health conservation who rushed here yesterday, diagnosed the case. Danger of spread in North East is slight since the disease developed while Mrs. Wallin was under observation quarantine.

She will be held under absolute quarantine for 30 days or until lesions disappear.

Scouts Assist At Cemeteries

Help Visitors On Memorial Day —Emergency Corps Aids With Traffic

Working under the supervision of Ralph F. Davis, Scout Commissioner, a corps of about 365 Boy Scouts from the local troops performed their annual civic good turn at the various cemeteries about the city, Tuesday.

Visitors to the cemeteries found scouts waiting, willing to do any task to help, making the plots look nice for the day. Many persons, when aided by the scouts, were surprised when money offered for the services was refused.

When a boy joins the Boy Scouts he vows to do a good turn daily. In the scout law it prohibits a scout taking money for a good turn.

Members of the Emergency Corps reported at the city police station, Tuesday morning, to aid the police. This group directed traffic, helped in the parade, and aided in many other ways.

"Kiss Of Death" Woman Ends Hunger Strike

Asks For Food After Week's Hunger Strike In Philadelphia

(International News Service)

PHILADELPHIA, May 31.—Ending a week's hunger strike in protest over her arrest, Mrs. Rose Carina, "Kiss of Death" woman of Philadelphia's insurance-murder plot, today was on a carefully supervised diet designed to bring her back to health.

"Give me food," the woman whispered to hospital attendants as she decided to forego her fast after doctors had fed her forcibly for two days.

Meanwhile, detectives, busy correlating the mass of evidence gathered from her and other poison-ring defendants, revealed that dissension in the ranks of the ring's leaders had brought them close to an open break.

Allegedly cheated in his share of the profits from the insurance slaying of John Woloshyn, Cesare Valentini, asserted "tutor" of the syndicate, planned to kill his double-crosser, detective said. Woloshyn died in 1935 from injuries suffered when he reportedly was struck over the head by a pipe and run down by an automobile in an attempt to make him look like a hit-run victim.

The "double-crosser" was Herman Petrillo, already convicted of murder for the death of another of the ring's victims, according to a statement by Ralph Polselli, who pleaded guilty last week to two murder indictments. Detectives said Petrillo informed them that Valentini was out to "get" Petrillo.

Sheriff R. B. Stevens said charges "may be filed" against Denver Binkley, Circleville, O., driver of the other auto.

NEW YORK, May 31.—A gander at the Memorial Day crowds in the baseball parks, especially in New York and Cincinnati, leads us to the belief today that there is apparently nothing wrong with baseball that a little warm weather won't cure.

It will take a lot of aspirin to cure the headaches of those good burghers in Cincinnati today who saw their beloved Reds suffer the ignominy of a double shut-out at the hands of the Cubs, 6-0 and 2-0.

If the Reds had any thought of to-rowing the field, that double defeat must have disillusioned them. Conversely it also served notice on the rest of the clubs that the Cubs are still very much in the race.

Giants-Dodgers Split
Old Larry French set the Reds back with eight hits in the opener and Vance Page let them down with five hits in the nightcap.

The Giants barely lasted long enough to take the first game from the Dodgers, 5-4, but old Carl Hubbell dropped the second one, 3 to 1, when Kov and Todd tagged him for homers in the seventh.

The Dodgers took the blankets off Hubbell Casey, a rookie from Memphis, an dthe young man proceeded to handcuff the Giants in major league style.

The Bees and Phils split a pair, the Bees taking the opener on West's 10th-inning homer, 9-7 but they bowed to the ancient Syl Johnson in the nightcap, 5-3, despite another homer by West.

Pirates-Cards Split
Lon Warneke's 5-hit pitching gave the Cardinals a 7-2 decision over the Pirates but with Rizzo hitting a pair of homers and the rest of the Bucs slugging lustily, the Pirates took the second tilt, 14-3.

After winning seven in a row, Red Ruffing of the Yanks suffered his first defeat when the Red Sox shellied him from the box and took the opener, 8-4, on homers by Williams, Cronin and Fox. The Red Sox paid for this tilt of least majesty in the second game, however, when the Yanks pounded out 17 hits for a 17-9 decision.

Indians Won Two
The Indians moved into third place by taking a pair from the Browns, 7-2, and 3-2, but had to travel 12 miles to win the second battle. Heats hung up his eighth victory in the opener.

Although Alexandra Carrasquel, the Venezuelan pitcher, gave the Athletics only four hits and hit a homer himself, the Senators lost the first game, 3-1, but they took the second, 8-4, to end a losing streak which had reached six games.

The Tigers and White Sox split a pair. Ted Lyons outpitched Schoolboy Rowe to beat the Tigers, 6-2, in the first half of the double-header but the Tigers slugged their way to an 8-3 verdict in the second spasm.

Maxie Does His Road Work

The inimitable Max Baer does a bit of road work with the help of a protesting baby at Fallsburg, N. Y., where he is in training for heavy-weight bout with Lou Nova. The child is just seventeen months old, the same age of Maxie Baer, Jr., which makes her absolutely invaluable as a stand-in.

Braky Pitches Fine Game 8-0

West Pittsburgh Gas House Gang Wins City League Game From Columbus Club

Frank Brakyovich, better known as Braky, stood out on the mound yesterday and littered handcuffed the Columbus club baseball team in a City league game that went to the West Pittsburgh "Gas House Gang" 8 to 0. Braky had his speed ball working nicely. He fanned three men. Extra-base hits were made by James Markey, Rainey and J. Elssesser.

The West Pittsburgh team got away to a bad start this year in the City league, but are now on a four-game winning streak. Five runs in the first inning were all that Frigone allowed. He gave up nine hits.

Updegraff and Thomas tolled for the Tigers and were found for nine hits.

Rambling Around World Of Sports

Diamond Dust.—Manhattan gossipers say Lou Gehrig's retirement is permanent. Melvin Ott, the Giants' classy stickler, is the most feared batsman in the National League. Dolph Camilli, why poked out a pair of homers Sunday, take the derby lead, started his career as a left handed pitcher. The Cards finally whipped Johnny Vander Meer, Cincy artist. The Giants regard Truett Sewell of the Pirates, as their prize jinx. Besides setting them back twice this season, Sewell hint a homer in the first contest and three singles in the second tussle. As a means of stopping the unstoppable New York Yankees, rival managers shot out 10 southpaws in a stretch of 24 games. Four of the port side throwers came through victorious. This is the closest they've come to halting the cannonading McCarthy men.

The Nova-Baer scrap.—A couple of family men Baer-Nova, grab the sport spotlight this week. They fight it out (for the wife and kids) for a possible crack at Joe Louis. Baer And Nova Fight Thursday In New York Ring

Winner Will Get Chance To Meet Joe Louis For Title In September

By LAWTON CARVER
International News Service Sports Editor

NEW YORK, May 31.—Neither elated nor downcast, just snugly content, Promoter Mike Jacobs today predicted that about 35,000 people will pay between $125,000 and $150,000 to witness the latest version of M. Madcap Baer's comeback when he meets Lou Nova at Yankee Stadium tomorrow night. At the same time, dozens of the local cauliflower orchard reported that previously fluctuating betting odds finally had settled down to even money. As a matter of fact, everybody probably will be wrong on both counts by the time we get down to the ringside.

Charging off some of Promoter Jacobs' observation to enthusiasm, it seems likely that receipts for the show originally expected to draw $200,000 will be nearer to $100,000 than any higher figure, unless an expected last minute ticket rush develops. He's banking on that.

As to that even money betting, it is being bruited about that Baer probably will be a slight favorite going into the ring, with the fight producing more wagering than has staged here since the night Baer was belted out by Joe Louis. Observers generally predict that it will be a great battle and a knockout is expected, according to the latest summations.

South Side Loses To Edenburg, 11-4

Ellwood Pays Tribute To Deceased Veterans

ELLWOOD CITY, May 31—The ideals of democracy, for which these Memorial Day reverses died, can be maintained through education, enlightenment, sane thinking and religion. J. J. McLaughlin emphasized in an inspiring and thoughtful address during the Memorial Day services held in this city as a deserved tribute to the soldier dead.

Taj Mahal, a great tomb in India, Calvary, where the "Godman" died praying for those who crucified him. Memorial Day throughout the states in honor of the war dead, are all outstanding examples of great love but the ideals for which they died should be recalled.

"Today, ideals of democracy are in danger. They are being attacked from all sides as dictators threaten from outside and 'isms' menace from within. The world is bent on destruction for if democracy is destroyed, civilization cannot long survive. Individuals in the country are preaching false doctrines, which if carried out would reduce this country to a condition of slavery far worse than that which existed before the Civil War."

Among the "isms" prevalent today, one of the most dangerous is indifference, the why worry, there's nothing to fear group. How large these various subversive groups are we do not know. The civil war lasted four years, yet the confederate army was little more than a million men. A million men organized for the purpose of destruction, aided by foreign powers could cause a lot of trouble here today."

"If certain groups are teaching doctrines contrary to American ideals, I believe it is because of ignorance. They know not what they do." It is our duty to counteract these teachings by preaching the gospel of Americanism.

"Liberty is the greatest attribute of America, but it must not become a license to exercise freedom for selfish purposes or detriment of fellow beings."

"The future of America is with the youth but we are responsible for its present state and it is our duty that those who take up the burden are not handicapped by our mistakes."

"All education must be based on the moral facilities of man. Education which neglects the soul leads to savagery and debauchery. Remedy for our political and economic ills can be found in the church. No matter whether we are Jew or Gentile, Catholic or Protestant, or an unbeliever, the rule of life, exemplified by Christ was one of Justice and Charity. The doctrines of charity, justice, equality and freedom are embodied in the teachings of religion, and it is these attributes that will make better democracy."

"These liberties and privileges are ours in trust only. Let us guard them well so that when taps sound the last sweet note for us we can answer the call to join the army of the dead, and as we greet those veterans of other wars we can say 'we've done our bit to carry on.' You died for the ideals of democracy, we've lived for those ideals and may the great Commander welcome us because we lived for God and country."

Preceding the program over which Burgess William McGlinchey presided as master of ceremonies in a befitting manner, the patriotic organizations, Auxiliaries Veterans, widows, Gold Star Mothers, Veterans, boys and girl scouts, boys' and girls' clubs, drum and bugle corps, American Legion drum and bugle corps and high school band, paraded over the principal streets of the city. Stock Market Higher Today

Gains Generally Limited To Fractions In Market After Holiday Period

By LESLIE GOULD

International News Service Financial Writer

NEW YORK, May 31.—The stock market's recovery was carried into today as Wall Street returned from the Memorial Day holiday. Gains generally were limited to fractions, but a few issues climbed a point or more.

Trading was at an active pace at the start, with blocks of 1,000 to 3,000 shares changing hands among mutual funds. Activity dwindled later in the session, however, as light profit-taking pared initial gains.

Aviation shares were independently soft, under profit-taking attracted by the group's recent sharp advance. Boeing dropped about a point at one time.

The slide from early peaks carried a few other stocks under previous closings and made appreciable inroads on extreme gains. However, most sections maintained modest advances.

U. S. Gypsum and Johns-Manville climbed better than a point. Standard Oil of California, Howe Sound and National Steel also were up as much before meeting profit-taking. Elsewhere changes were reduced to minor proportions before noon.

Memorial Day
Celebrated In
Ward With Parade

Patriotic Organizations Conduct
Annual Service At Cemetery Here

Starting with a parade through the Seventh Ward streets, Tuesday morning, Memorial Day was marked with a fine patriotic program in this district.

Following the leadership of the Christopher Columbus society, members of the Columbus Auxiliary, Immaculate Conception Sodality and the Holy Rosary congregation of St. Lucy's church all joined in the parade.

This group marched to St. Lucy's cemetery, where the annual Memorial Day service to honor the dead was held. The Columbus Society band played several selections, and Taps were sounded by a bugler. Both the Valley View cemetery and the St. Vitus cemetery were decorated with flowers, and small American flags flew over many of the graves.

Dr. Grant E. Fisher Of New Castle Delivers Memorial Sermon

The memorial sermon on Sunday in the Evans City Presbyterian church was delivered by the Rev. Grant E. Fisher, D. D., of this city, who had as his subject, "Christian Patriotism." The large body of the American Legion and the whole assembly felt honored by the presence of two veterans of the G. A. R.

These were J. C. Brandon, aged 95 years, Company D, 137th Pennsylvania Regiment, and J. P. Caldwell, aged 92 years, Company D, Knappa Battery Light Artillery. This is the Battery which claims to have fired the shot that killed the Confederate General Polk on Kennesaw Mountain, Georgia, 1864. The former of these is a resident of Petersburg and latter of Meridian, villages near Evans City.

Dr. Fisher will again be guest preacher at the Evans City Presbyterian church on Sunday, June 4.

Fat Girls! Here's A Tip For You

All over the world the Kruschen Plan is appealing to great numbers of girls and women who strive for more attractive figures without ugly excess fat.

Here's a plan that helps reduce fat and brings into fuller blossom natural attractiveness.

Follow the safe, sensible, pleasing food lists inside a jar of Kruschen. Then, for a wholesome, beneficial aperient effect on liver and bowels and for a mind helpful diuresis of the kidneys—take a half teaspoonful of Kruschen in a glass of hot water first thing every morning.

Be sure to do this every morning. Don't miss this little daily dose for by so doing poisonous waste matter and harmful excess acids and gases are gently impelled from the system.

Liver, kidneys and bowels are more gently activated by Kruschen's aperient and diuretic properties and because of this there usually follows "that Kruschen feeling" of more energy, greater vivacity, improved health and more youthful feeling which reduction of excess fat so often brings.

Get a jar of Kruschen today at any drugstore. It lasts 4 weeks with the distinct understanding that you must be satisfied or money back. New Castle Drug Co. and Eckerd's.
